The 29th Graduating Class

CAMPUS READIES FOR JUNE 17 COMMENCEMENT

Some 3,900 students are eligible to graduate at CSUSB's annual Commencement ceremonies taking place June 17 on the main campus and the following day for the university's Coachella Valley satellite campus.

The quad south of the Pfau Library will again be the site for graduates to tighten the laces on their shoes and prepare for that "next big step" with the blessings of more than 20,000 expected well-wishers.

Among them will be Commencement speakers Joan Otomo-Corgel and William Hauck, members of the California State University Board of Trustees. Otomo-Corgel will speak at the 9 a.m. ceremony for the schools of Education, Humanities and Natural Sciences. Hauck appears at 5:30 p.m. at the schools of Business and Public Administration and Social and Behavioral Sciences ceremonies.

A 1972 graduate of California State University, Fresno with a B.A. in zoology, Otomo-Corgel earned her M.P.H. in behavioral science and health education from UCLA in 1980. Since that time she has been an adjunct assistant professor in residence for the UCLA School of Dentistry.

She also has a private practice in periodontics, and has been a staff periodontist at Rancho Los Amigos Hospital since 1981. Professionally, Otomo-Corgel has been involved with the American, California and Los Angeles dental associations, as well as the International Association for Dental Research.

William Hauck earned his B.A. in social science from San Jose State University in 1963.

He is a consultant for the Office of the Governor of California, and has been chief of staff for Assembly speakers Bob Moretti and Willie Brown, Jr. Hauck also is a member of the board for the Bob Moretti Memorial Scholarship Foundation.

Both he and Otomo-Corgel began serving on the CSU Board of Trustees in 1993.

John Rogers, whose original $40,000 gift to the Coachella Valley campus in 1994 helped establish the site's first, major scholarship fund, is the featured speaker for the June 18 ceremony in Palm Desert. The ceremony starts at 2 p.m. at the McCallum Theatre.

A native Californian, Rogers grew up in Modesto and earned an M.A. from Willamette University in Oregon. He also has an M.A. in counseling and guidance from the University of Colorado, Greeley.

Rogers spent 26 years as a pilot for the U.S. Air Force, flying a C-124 and C-141, and retired as a full colonel six years ago. Now the Hughson, CA resident owns a fixed base operation at Modesto Airport, where he charts airplanes.

AREA SYMPHONY, UNIVERSITY, FORM REGIONAL CHOIR

The Inland Empire Symphony and the Music Department of Cal State are establishing a symphonic choir that will perform regularly with the symphony beginning with the 1995-96 season.

Open to Inland Empire residents, the choir does not require auditions for interested participants, states Tamara Harsh, director of choral activities at Cal State.

"In its first season, which begins next fall, the chorus will perform Carl Orff's 'Carmina Burana,' the 'Gloria' of Francis Poulenc and the 'Liebeslieder Walzer' of Johannes Brahms," notes Harsh, who will conduct two of the performances in November and June. The symphony's Maestro, Stewart Robertson, will conduct the Poulenc, which is scheduled for April 1996, she adds.

Rehearsals of the Inland Empire-CSUSB Symphonic Choir will be held Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the Recital Hall at Cal State, San Bernardino. More information is available from Harsh at Ext. 5859.

STUDENTS' OVERSEAS STUDY COULD DISPEL MYTHS

Nine Cal State, San Bernardino students are headed overseas this summer as participants in International Programs, which sends students abroad to study at about the same cost as it takes to attend a California State University school.

Most students think it costs much more to go to school in another country, says Aurora Wolfgang, Cal State assistant professor of foreign languages, who coordinates the program on campus and is trying to dispel some misconceptions about who can—or should—study overseas. What's more, she adds, financial aid often is available, and any grants or loans students earn here travel with them.

Another false notion is that "Cal State students don't see themselves as the kinds of students who go abroad," Wolfgang says. Some have the impression that only the well-off, Ivy League-types take such trips. Not so, she says flatly.

You also don't have to be a foreign language major, says Wolfgang. "We have many programs where you don't have to speak a foreign language," such as the ones for the United Kingdom,

Canada and even Sweden, where students take a course in Swedish after they arrive. For such programs as the German, French or Spanish ones, students can have as little as one class done and still be eligible.

And "we have programs for almost every major," Wolfgang adds. This year's batch of students is a good example.

Six students will travel to France. They are: from San Bernardino, Constance Tseng, a French literature major; Jack Tape, an anthropology and French major; Lena Batanian, a business administration and French major from Victorville; Rialto resident Valerie Johnson, a liberal studies and French major; French literature student Robert Vieira of Loma Linda, and Bri Fernandez, a Moreno Valley student working on her master's in French.

Going to Spain are liberal studies major Todd Burman of Chino, and San Bernardino resident Jeffrey Sperry, a liberal studies and Spanish student. Brenda Gazzar, a political science major from Barstow, will study in Israel.

For more information call Aurora Wolfgang at Ext. 5838.

ORANGE SHOW EXEC JOINS BUSINESS SCHOOL

Alton Garrett, Jr., director of sales for the National Orange Show Events Center in San Bernardino, will assume his new position as director of development and alumni relations for Cal State's School of Business and Public Administration June 1.

In his post, Garrett will lead fundraising activities in support of the university's business programs. His also will coordinate the annual giving, alumni relations, corporate and foundation relations and major gifts programs.

Garrett has been affiliated with the National Orange Show for six years, most recently overseeing the development of sales and utilization of facilities at the events center.

Prior to his work at the Orange Show, Garrett served in the military for 27 years, retiring from the U.S. Air Force in 1989 as Chief Master Sergeant. He received numerous decorations and awards during his military career.

Active civically, Garrett is a commissioner for the San Bernardino Municipal Water Department, vice chair of the San Bernardino Private Industry Council, a member of the board of directors for Arrowhead United Way and a member of several civic panels and service groups. He is in his second term as president of the San Bernardino Kiwanis Club.

A graduate of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale with a B.S. in vocation education studies, Garrett also is pursuing a master's degree here. He says he is looking forward to his new challenges both professionally and personally.

THE BULLETIN BOARD

CLASSES, TAXES AND WAIVERS

The bad news is the IRS now considers employee dependent fee waivers for grad courses and employee waivers for "career development purposes" as (surprise) taxable income. The good news is "job-related" grad level courses taken by employees are not taxable. Stay tuned for more details, says the Accounting Office.

'TWO NUNS' A 'MINI' WINNER

The 10-minute comedy, "Two Nuns" by Linda Stockham (Anthropology, Geography), is one of a handful selected for production in the Lake Arrowhead Performing Arts Company's mini-play contest. The plays will be performed June 9-11.

LAST MINUTE CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

One more time ...?

Commencement needs YOU. Staff volunteers can still sign up to assist at graduation ceremonies June 17. Call Pam at Ext. 5006 for more information about the morning or evening time slots.

THAT'S (CHEAP) ENTERTAINMENT

They say if you use the books only two or three times they pay for themselves, and it's not too late to buy an Entertainment Book from the Athletics Department. The 1995 discount books sell for just that—$19.95—and contain coupons for everything from bowling to restaurants to movie theatres. Call Ext. 5011.

EDITORIALLY INCORRECT

So proficient, perhaps, at faking political affiliations has been the Model U.N. student team that The Friday Bulletin mistook it for being the Model Arab League student team in the lead story of May 19. What's more, Phillip Taylor (Political Science) was said to be an advisor for the Model Arab League team, which he is not. In truth, he is the advisor for the Model U.N. team, which also won big honors when it represented Belgium at a major competition in New York in late April. The team captured a "distinguished delegation" award for finishing in the top ten colleges among 200 nationwide.

COMMUNITY SERVICE

Dr. Robert Blackey (History) spoke to the Jurupa Valley High School sophomore class about "Witchcraft: History and Perspective" on May 19.

On April 1, Dr. Patty Domingues (Sociology) spoke to women from the Disciples of Christ Church and the United Church of Christ in Redlands about the misuse of religion as a means of perpetuating women's oppression.

Dr. Judith Rymer (University Relations) was the featured speaker at the Option House annual banquet held May 20. Her talk was titled, "Sometimes You Lead and Sometimes You Follow."

In April, Dr. Bob Senour (School of Education) spoke to the California Retired Teachers Association about "Technology in Education."

'STRIDES' EVENT SET FOR JUNE 4

The CSUSB "Making Strides" committee invites all walkers, runners, wheelchair rollers and roller bladers to this year's "Making Strides Against Cancer" move-along-a-thon taking place June 4 at the Loma Linda Medical Center. Registration is at 8 a.m. and participants get moving at 9 a.m.

Last year the event was held on campus and raised $12,000. "Making Strides" is the premier event of the American Cancer Society, which awarded 163 grants to researchers in California last year totalling more than $16 million.

One in two people go on to live productive lives with early detection and advanced treatment for cancer.

Call Olga Morales (Academic Affairs) at Ext. 3056 for details.
